GREAT TREASURE TROVE

A case of long standing has just been decided by the Tribunal of the Seine In 1867 as some repairs were going on at the Lycee Henri VI behind the Pantheon a workman discovered a large number of Roman coins in a sewer The law awards in such cases one-half of the value to the finder and the other half to the proprietor of the ground, in this instance the city The contractor [illegible] whose employ the workman was stepped in, claiming his share but he has now been nonsuited and the municipality have paid the finder the sum of 18 292 francs for his half of the treasure which is now deposited at the Musee Carnavalet This establishment founded by the city in the old hotel of Mme de Sevigne has thus come into possession of a ready made collection of upward of 800 gold medals all the size which numismatic antiquaries call the aureus answering to the twenty franc pieces but of a value one third higher They form a series pertaining to the history of Lutetia from the reign of Claudius to that of Septimius Severus with very few interruptions it comprises all the Emperors and Empresses of that period viz within the years 41 and 193 of our era They are all in perfect preservation those nearest the time at which the collection was buried look as if they had just come from the mint such as those of Commodus Pertinax and especially Septimius Severus The most brilliant period of the monetary art that of the Antonines is amply represented the two Faustinas are frequently repeated There are more than fifty Vespasians [illegible] there are fewer but there is one with the exergue—Divo Tit on the obverse and the [illegible] on the reverse with the [illegible] which is extremely valuable There is a Julia Domna mother of Caracalla and [illegible] two or three Plotine which are extremely rare an aureus of Antoninus Pius with the exergue Cons des [illegible] on the reverse [illegible] This treasure must have been [illegible] in the year [illegible] [illegible] collector of [illegible] medals [illegible]

SOME IMPORTANT FACTS

Charges were boldly made last fall by two Portland papers that great frauds were enacted at the last Congressional election in that city, much has since been said about the matter, and there has been much comment about the failure of the Courts to indict the criminals We pass all that by and come to the fall term of the U S District Court at which a Grand Jury was charged by the District Judge that illegal voting at the Congressional election was a crime against the United States and a matter for their inquiry We have been reliably informed that this Grand Jury found an indictment, with only three dissenting votes against some person connected with illegal voting a viva voce vote being taken at the time At the next meeting of the same Grand Jury, a motion was made to reconsider which carried and then the mode of voting was changed to the ballot and the indictment was revoked, or at least failed to carry by the necessary majority though a majority of the Grand Jury still sustained it [illegible] says the testimony was clear conclusive and abundant but the jury refused to find the indictment the second time

After this the District Attorney made a statement of what he claimed to be the facts and the Court ordered a new Grand Jury to be summoned in a way that would insure a fair selection of men removed from certain influences that exist at Portland If the evidence was as clear [illegible] District Attorney says he did his duty and the Court did its duty in exercising its authority to bring together a Grand Jury that could impartially judge the evidence for an indictment

The second jury has not until adjourned and found four indictments against persons who assisted in [illegible] and certain influences we are told [illegible] fully brought to bear [illegible] removal of the [illegible] District Attorney who was conducting the proceedings The only conclusion we can reach is that the friends of Senator Mitchell [illegible] the indictments [illegible] against them and [illegible] that they telegraphed him [illegible] the [illegible] of a new Grand Jury and [illegible] an order from the Attorney General that Gibbs should take no further steps in the matter But the matter was beyond the reach of the District Attorney the Grand Jury was summoned and could not be dispersed, and they found indictments which justify the [illegible] of the Attorney, and they unanimously signed an endorsement to that effect

We decline to believe that a Grand Jury so summoned would find indictments without sufficient evidence It is folly to charge that the whole proceeding is intended to criminate men in good standing without cause for no jury can be selected according to law that would convict without sufficient evidence We are forced to believe that corrupt politicians find themselves in trouble by these proceedings that they lean on [illegible] H Mitchell and that he is using all the [illegible] his command to protect his friends [illegible] the only reason that [illegible] and the only comment we need make on the matter is that such corruption as this endangers the life of any party and any party that allows [illegible] corrupt influence to control it ought to [illegible] It remains to be seen if the Republican party of Oregon deserves to live

The [illegible] of a handful of office holders [illegible] Albany convention who [illegible] not represent the wishes and sentiment of [illegible] [illegible] Republican votes to [illegible] from the polls [illegible] be repeated [illegible] of similar suicidal tendency be committed [illegible] name of the party [illegible] There will not enough [illegible] to the polls to form an opposition to whatever runs against it If the party [illegible] now to rally to the defense of [illegible] election frauds it may [illegible] once

The Helena (Mont) Herald of the 4th inst says "The National Mining and Exploring Co [illegible] are still turning out [illegible] Superintendent Jones last week shipped to New York through the First National Bank a brick valued at $1 [illegible] currency, with gold standing at 1 09 There are hundreds of good mines in the Territory which only need capital to develop them and economical, experienced Superintendents to run them

Mr S A Woodward an esteemed citizen of Shoalwater Bay was found lying dead near Mr Stout's house, a few miles from Oysterville on the 10th inst From the Astorian we learn that he had been at Mr Stout's for the purpose of hunting and trapping, on the 7th inst and left the house and went out and killed some geese and took them to the house, where he stayed a while, and again started with his gun to kill some more geese That was the last that was seen or heard of him until yesterday the 10th when he was found dead about one mile from the house lying on his back, as though he had laid down to rest, with his gun beside him There were no marks or bruises upon his person to indicate how he met his death, nor did the Coroner's jury find the cause

We extract the following from a Cheyenne correspondence of the Laramie Independent: "We were treated this evening with a lecture from that charming and certainly much abused Mrs Young No 19 who it must be conceded handles her subject matter with that "savoir faire so becoming to her sex It is rumored here that the majority of the members of the Legislature were so highly elated at the lady's entertainment that they propose to pass a relief bill in her favor, in the shape of a divorce bill, which will at once sever all appellative titles that ever Brigham Young bestowed on his 19th wife in the 19th century and had she arrived here in time there is no doubt but that she would also have been H B No 19 with an alimony of $50 000 which certainly would and ought to—pass "

SATURDAY MORNING, DEC. 20, 1873.

THE CURRENCY DISCUSSION.

It is interesting to note the various positions taken by the Eastern press in the discussion just now going on of the subject of a return to specie payments. All, apparently, agree that resumption would be generally beneficial to the country, but there seems to be almost as many different views as the practicability of the measure and the difficulties in the way of it, and even as to the reasons why resumption is desirable, as there are persons engaged in the discussion. One cannot read the arguments pro and con without a suspicion that many of those who essay a solution of the problem, are in water entirely too deep for them. One man believes the way to resumption is through increase of taxation; another, thinks the thing to be done is so to amend the law in relation to the currency that greenbacks shall be a legal tender for all demands, public and private, abolishing the exceptions that exist at present, and by that means bring greenbacks up to par; others still meet the case by threadbare platitudes which amount to repetitions of that shallow claptrap, "the way to resume is to resume."

It seems to us that all this assumes as a self-evident what is not just exactly self-evident, namely, that resumption, in the sense in which it appears to be understood in these discussions is a thing to be desired. A currency convertible into coin, at its par value, at the option of the holder, is no doubt very desirable. No argument is needed to prove this. There are so many circumstances under which a man finds the precious metals available where paper would not be so, especially in traveling or trading in foreign countries, that it would be better every way if the circulating medium in use in our domestic trade were convertible at any time, and without difficulty or loss, into gold or silver coin. But it seems to us very questionable whether for all the purposes of local trade and home commerce a paper currency with an actual value equal to coin, is not more convenient than hard money. And then comes the further question, which, though right on the surface, appears to be overlooked by a good many: when the government ceases to pay out greenbacks, where is the country to obtain the amount of currency necessary to carry on its business? A writer in the New York Times thinks, and, it appears to us with great reason, that this question is one that must be settled at the threshold of the discussion, and that they who overlook it have simply been amusing themselves with speculations as to the practicability of actual resumption without giving any sufficient consideration to the question what might be the result of such resumption, if found practicable. They have assumed the point which is of more vital importance to the country than the one they are so earnestly considering.

It is, or ought to be, well known that the yield of mines of the precious metals does not increase the bulk of coin or coinable material in nearly so great a ratio as the business of the country demanding the use of money increases. Besides, a very considerable portion of the annual product of the gold and silver mines, is melted up for the purpose of making jewelry and plate. And to this might, until within a few months, be added the vast exportation of gold and silver from the United States, to meet the balance of trade against us. Where, then is the money to come from which the country must needs have in its business? The abandonment of the entire currency system now in operation could hardly fail to be followed immediately by the inauguration of a system of trade based on shinplasters of State banks and private corporations, of various degrees of stability or instability, and the best of them not equal to the present currency, and all very inconvenient because of the want of uniformity. That this would be inevitable, the writer referred to above thinks is certain, and we cannot but think he takes the correct view of the case. And if this is true, the only desirable resumption will have been effected whenever the Government has made it possible for the holder of its notes to convert them into coin at his option, though Government may still continue to pay out greenbacks on its general obligations.

COMING AROUND RIGHT.

The party papers, one by one, are coming around to the right place. The Pittsburg Gazette, one of the straightest of Republican organs, declares that the sense of the American people, as well as the best interests of society, demand that in the choice of all city and other local officers, hereafter, party considerations shall have no weight, but that the best men shall be selected regardless of party. This is a great concession for a partisan journal, but it is the only true ground. All the respectable papers of the country are taking the same ground. The uses to which political parties have been put of late, have been such as could not fail to open the eyes of the blindest adherent to party, and teach the whole country the danger of placing the success of party above the triumph of principle. The doctrine of the Gazette may be said not to apply in general terms to any other than local and municipal affairs, but whenever, in a general election, the same reason for its application clearly exists, it should then be applied to that case also. In times of peace, when the safety and good order of community are no wise in peril, there is just the same reason why the citizen should refuse to support the party when it puts up bad men against good ones for office that exists in local affairs. Principle ought to be above party at all times and in all cases, whether reference is had to local or general elections. In other words, a man's party should be to him what his religious society is—an organization to be sustained while he considers it right and because he considers it right; to be criticised and even rebelled against whenever he believes it wrong and because he believes it wrong. Let this rule take the place of the infallibility dogma that has come to be an article in the party creed of both the Republican and the Democratic party in many parts of the country, and the parties will be strong, politics comparatively pure, and the Government will possess the affections of the people because it can inspire their confidence and command their esteem.

ABSOLVED.

The farmers of Illinois in State Convention assembled have defined their position in regard to the political parties so clearly that there can be no longer any doubt as to how they stand. Politicians, of all classes, regardless of age, sex or "previous condition of servitude," are notified that they needn't call on the farmers hereafter for their support unless they have something stronger to urge than the plea of party. This is as it should be. The resolution adopted by that State Convention, declaring the farmers of Illinois absolved from all connection with political parties, makes them freemen and secures to them a power in the political affairs of the State such as they have never had hitherto. So long as they yielded unquestioning obedience to the behests of party conventions, so long were they utterly powerless in the hands of the professional politicians; for these, giving all their time and attention to the manipulation of politics, could always outmanage the farmers and make of the conventions mere instruments in the hands of themselves for the accomplishment of their personal ends. There is no reason in the nature of human society why the farmer, the merchant or the mechanic should be the mere tool of the politician.

NOT SO FAST.

The Statesman is inclined to be a little hypercritical, we think, in its comments on the tone of a recent editorial in the OREGONIAN, entitled "Mr. Williams and the Chief Justiceship." We did not, as that paper would have it appear, denounce the Attorney-General as "a criminal." What we did say was this: that he was arraigned by the Senate Committee on Judiciary as a criminal. And we had in mind the fact that the Senate Committee was about to request power to send for persons and papers in the matter of the charges telegraphed to Washington. This would put Attorney-General Williams on trial for official misdemeanor, certainly, else the investigation would be utterly meaningless. Most assuredly it is a serious impeachment of the integrity of any judicial officer, to say that he has interfered, without just cause, to impede the due course of justice. We have no disposition to "prejudge the Attorney-General," as our valued contemporary hints. Far from it, we would rejoice to see him fairly clear his good name from the cloud which rests upon it. But we would like, also, to see him repair the injury he has worked to the cause of political reform in Oregon. We think it is sufficiently known that the OREGONIAN entertains no rancorous hatred of Mr. Williams. The weal of the State is superior to the political preferment of any individual. The laws must be upheld, our courts must be placed above the sway of faction, and the purity of the ballot-box must be maintained, else the days of the Republic are numbered.

ANYTHING TO BEAT BOOTH.

Several days since our dispatches stated that Chief-Justice Wallace, of the Supreme Bench of California, had announced in the Democratic Senatorial caucus "that Swift and Estee (Republicans) had made propositions by Edgerton and Swift to support a Democrat for the short term, if the Democrats would support Booth for the long term. The dispatch adds that the announcement created much excitement. It has since appeared that the Sacramento Record, organ of the Central Pacific Railway Company, first published the statement in a double-leaded editorial.

On the 13th inst. Senator Edgerton rose to a question of privilege and, referring to the scandalous charges quoted above, read the annexed card from Chief-Justice Wallace:

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 13, 1873.

My Dear Sir:—I see this morning an article in the Daily Record headed, "Judge Wallace Exposes Booth," in which I am represented to have said in substance that I had been approached by certain parties, acting in your behalf, with a proposition that if I would use my influence to procure Democratic votes for you as a candidate for the long term in the United States Senate, you would guarantee me the Independent vote for the short term. I avail myself of the earliest moment to state to you that the representation of what I said is false in toto. Had the Democratic caucus sat with open doors as was my desire, the country would have been the witnesses of its proceedings, and no opportunity for this or other possible misrepresentations been afforded. My remarks upon this subject, as made to the Democratic [illegible], were, in substance, that I had been industriously accused, and falsely accused, of sympathy with monopolies against the rights of the people; that my entire course in public and private life was open to examination, and that I defied my enemies to point to an act done or a sentiment uttered, which could be tortured to support the charge, that you were personally aware of my true sentiments; that gentlemen of the Independent party were also aware of them, and that it was a significant fact that when a vacancy occurred in the Senate by the resignation of Mr. Casserly, two distinguished gentlemen, men of individual honor, and members of the Independent party, had solicited me to become a candidate to succeed Mr. Casserly. There was nothing said by me, or intimated, nor have I ever supposed that any bargain was proposed. It was offered and received as an evidence of the opinion of those gentlemen of my sentiments upon the question referred to. I am sorry that your enemies and mine are so reckless and unscrupulous as to invent a charge calculated to do injury to us both. Very respectfully, your friend,

WM. T. WALLACE.

His Excellency, Newton Booth, present.

The course of the Record in this matter is precisely that adopted by the railroad press all over the country. The people have at the sage, try to see that their lying schemes will in the end rebound with ten-fold fury on their own heads. The false accusations of the Record show to what an extreme of desperation this prospective bitter defeat has driven the [illegible] in California. There is an [illegible] with Governor Booth among the [illegible] and the enemies of political purity [illegible] Oregon. They rejoice to see his good name [illegible] and [illegible] his election as a blessing and a benefaction to the whole Pacific coast.

It appears from the proceedings of the Democratic senatorial caucus in Sacramento the 13th, that the resolution of Tully, providing that the caucus be held with open doors, was defeated by one vote. A report of the proceedings says: "In a frank, ringing and manly speech in support of his resolution Tully said for his part he had no desire to hide any action he might take, and wished an open session, that the proceedings might be published and the constituents of every member might see how he stood as to monopoly or anti-monopoly."

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

HIS MARRIAGE VOW, by Caroline F. Corbin. (Lee & Shepard, Boston, through J. K. Gill & Co., Booksellers, Portland.)

To those who have read Mrs. Corbin's "Rebecca," it is unnecessary to say this book has a charm about it that makes it impossible to lay it down when once its perusal has been commenced. The writer has a rare insight into the human heart, and in this lies the secret of that realism or power which she [illegible] her reader. The plot of this story has something in it which does not exactly please us and she occasionally lays herself liable to grammatical criticism, losing her reckoning in the intricacies of the subjunctive. But in this last point she has the companionship of many writers of recognized position, and His Marriage Vow is quite above the average American novel.

THE STONE AGE, PAST AND PRESENT, by E. B. Tylor. "HISTORY OF A NERVOUS [illegible]," by Dr. Richardson.

Two papers bearing these titles respectively, constitute No. 9 of the Half Hour Recreations in Popular Science, issued monthly by Estes & Lauriat, 143 Washington street, Boston. Not having the scope and purpose of a popular magazine this modest little periodical will of course never reach the place in the reading world that the popular magazine attains but the few to whom it addresses itself prize it highly and enjoy its visits very much. The first of the articles in this number is a well considered and clearly written paper upon an historico-scientific subject which is comprehensible to all intelligent readers. The other article is a beautiful speculation, very enjoyable, though its absolute correctness may not be demonstrable.

The friends of reform all over this Western coast should take fresh heart from the gratifying prospect of Newton Booth's election by the California Legislature. On the last ballot, yesterday, he lacked but two votes of a majority. It is probable that the necessary number will be obtained by noon to-day. We hope to be able to announce on Monday, the complete triumph of the so-called Independent Republicans and the utter annihilation of Stanford's horde of corruptionists.

Judge McAllister, of the Supreme Bench of Illinois, has been tendered the office of Corporation Counsel of Chicago. It is said that he is one of the leading lawyers of the State, and his partial acceptance of a position so subordinate as that offered him has been severely commented on. The salary of Counsel is much greater than that of Judge, but it is doubtful if he will give up the ermine for the gold.

A California exchange alleges that the Bank of California and Alvinza Hayward, who are at present principal owners of the Mount Diablo and Bellingham Bay coal mines, have secured a controlling interest in the Seattle mine and have determined to close it up.

TELEGRAPH TO ASTORIA

From time to time the [illegible] necessity of telegraphic communication between Portland and Astoria has been agitated in this community and the wants which such a line would supply have been [illegible] Hon [illegible] conversation with Mr [illegible] of the Western Union Company in this city we learn that in [illegible] several leading merchants [illegible] here he addressed a letter [illegible] Gamble Esq Superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph Company on the subject desiring a substantial [illegible] what the Company would undertake [illegible] the line [illegible] reply Mr Gamble submitted two propositions for the consideration of the citizens of Portland and all others interested either of which if accepted would soon secure the proposed connection [illegible] the two places by wire as the Western Union Co doubtless could do the work in a much shorter time than it would otherwise be accomplished That company always has on hand a large amount of material and as they purchase at the manufacturers and at wholesale rates the cost of building the line by them would also be less

[illegible] to return to the propositions submitted by Mr Gamble they are in brief as follows

First—The Western Union Company will upon the guaranty of the payment of a bonus or subsidy of $10 000 by any responsible corporation of the citizens of Portland agree to furnish material build equip put in operation and maintain at the expense of the company a line of telegraph between the points named the said $10 000 to be paid to said company upon the completion of the line Under this proposition the company would [illegible] own the line and would be required to give security to maintain it lest the revenues from it should fall below the running expenses and it be allowed to fall into disuse and decay

The other proposition is that a corporation shall be formed here of like responsible men to be known perhaps as the Portland and Astoria Telegraph Company, for the purpose of building and maintaining such a line, and the Western Union Company will build and equip the line and upon its completion will turn it over to the P & A Co at the actual cost of construction and equipment the latter company thereafter owning and maintaining and conducting it as they might see fit The Western Union men estimate the cost of the proposed line at $10 000 or $12,000

We have endeavored to give the substance of the proposals that the citizens may consider the matter, and if deemed feasible and expedient, accept one or the other That the construction and maintenance of the line would be of great advantage to business men especially shippers here will not admit of a doubt

AMUSEMENTS.

Owing to the fact that Carl Bosco arrived at a late hour last evening the performance announced to take place last evening was omitted He will however give a performance this evening when he will introduce all his new tricks, including "The Maid of Mecca," in which he will introduce Miss Lucy Pixley in a variety of attitudes upon the slender support of a single rod He has exhibited this illusion but once, and then only to a private circle upon which occasion it received a warm reception Mr Bosco's well known skill in the "art magique" is a sufficient inducement to attract a large audience Oro Fino Theater is the place selected for the entertainments as better facilities are offered on the stage in that hall

FAIRS AND FESTIVALS.

Friday night closed the fifth day of the Ladies Fair the receipts showing a decided increase to the funds already on hand The door receipts were fully as large as the evening previous if we may include the tickets received as so much cash As usual the raffles attracted the principal attention of visitors President McCormick disposed of the various articles over the officers' stand in a manner that "brought down the house" The fortunate ones and the articles they received are as below John Brady cornucopia T Fitzgerald, handkerchief holder M J Gleason cake with ring George Horfer, velvet suit J Brown, steel engraving J J Kelly doll bride D J Malarkey wax cross D C Telford gold watch and chain Maggie Hickey, silver caster Alexander Kennedy dressing gown Mrs John O'Neil mysterious box The delivery of this last article created a decided sensation, as it contained several links of sausage

The cashier of the postoffice reported all letters fully prepaid netting to the department a sum equal to previous evening Mails will close and the office discontinue at 11 o'clock this evening

As regards the fire trumpet we give it up The voting is decidedly mixed No — is said to be ahead Those who are interested will be made acquainted with the final result at 10 o'clock this evening W O Bruen Chief Engineer George H Clarke, of Hooks H Morgan, of No 4 and James Lotan, of No 5, are the committee appointed to count the votes It will be well to note the fact that the polls close at 10 P M At 9 P M remaining goods will be sold at auction and at 11 o'clock tonight the Ladies Fair for the benefit of St Vincent de Paul Society will be a thing of the past

MURDER WILL OUT

A [illegible]

Monday [illegible] in the OREGONIAN [illegible] the apprehension of [illegible] J W Purdam alias J W Hopkins [illegible] the crime of murder by the authorities of Yamhill county and [illegible] particulars of the [illegible] a short time since [illegible]

Deputy Sheriff [illegible] Belcher of Yamhill [illegible] the prisoner [illegible] the particulars which led to the apprehension of Hopkins being guilty of the crime of murder [illegible] We publish the full details of this affair as the public have [illegible]

[illegible] Purdam [illegible] No one knew from whence he came [illegible] During the summer he worked at harvest and [illegible] industrious man Sometime during the first of September [illegible] was received [illegible] addressed to Mr Hopkins They happened to [illegible] the town [illegible] took the letter out and broke it open It was written in a miserable scrawling hand almost totally illegible There was no signature attached and the letter bore neither date nor the name of a place or town After vainly endeavoring for sometime to decipher the mysterious missive Mr Hopkins concluded that it was intended for [illegible] for the cause of justice Mr Hopkins exhibited the [illegible] letter to several of his friends among whom was Mr Belcher This last gentleman after [illegible] scrutinizing the letter for sometime managed to [illegible] something of [illegible] a murder Suspicion being aroused the letter was pored over until most of the contents were made out Substantially the letter stated that a murder had been committed somewhere in the States that there were eight men and one woman concerned in its perpetration that the crime parties were scattered far apart that the authorities were engaged in tracking them up and were in close pursuit From the general tenor of the contents it was clearly manifest Hopkins, to whom the letter was addressed had played a conspicuous hand in this foul murder for the writer intimated that the authorities had hunted him (Hopkins) unsuccessfully through Illinois Ohio and Texas

Armed with this letter the Sheriff and his deputy began to track out the mysterious affair Carefully examining the envelope it was discovered that it bore the postmark of St Louis Missouri The letter was copied and the original sent back to Chief of Police McDonough of St Louis Meantime the authorities began to quietly institute a search for this man Hopkins whom it was suspected was stopping in that part of the county

Hopkins or Purdam, as he called himself was soon found working in the vicinity of McMinnville However no arrest was made until word was received from Chief McDonough They did not have to wait long Immediately on receipt of the letter McDonough telegraphed back to arrest Hopkins if such a man was to be found in that part of the country

Meantime Purdam had left Yamhill and started for Eastern Oregon He came directly to Portland and took the boat for the Dalles on the 25th September Knowing that it would be useless to pursue Purdam two requisitions were applied for from the Governor of Missouri—one for Oregon and one for Washington Territory Delay followed these necessary precautions and Deputy Sheriff Belcher was not able to start in pursuit until the 2d of November

Receiving what was deemed authentic information that Purdam was at Weston in Umatilla county Belcher proceeded there without delay But arriving there he ascertained his man had gone to Walla Walla and was engaged as a laborer on the W W and W R R He next proceeded to Walla Walla but again ascertained that Purdam was not there Having a strong impression that the person sought for was in that section Belcher quietly moved around through the country He soon discovered his whereabouts but was not able to arrest him until the 6th of this month Purdam was arrested in Walla Walla He did not resist at all but gave his name when desired as J W Hopkins Without ever asking the question as to why he was arrested he simply remarked while the handcuffs were being placed on his wrists "Well I expected as much I have felt for about 15 hours just like I was going to get caught" Subsequently while on the way down to this city Hopkins confessed to Belcher that he had participated in the killing of two men in Kentucky but claimed that it was an act of self defense He stated that the quarrel which terminated in a bloody murder was occasioned by rivalry and jealousy between himself and another young man both of whom were aspiring to the affections of a young lady In his conversations concerning the affair, he spoke in exultant tones and appeared to glory in the deed

It appears from a subsequent letter written by Chief McDonough that the murder alluded to in the first letter which led to the suspicion and arrest of Hopkins was committed in Missouri An aged man had been murdered under the most brutal and deliberate circumstances for his money and effects Five hundred dollars which he had on his person had been taken away by the murderers, and also a span of horses

Hopkins is a tall [illegible] built man with black hair eyes complexion and beard His whole bearing and appearance is forbidding and he has the aspect of a cold hearted villain who would delight in scenes of blood and crime There is no doubt but what Hopkins is guilty of perpetrating more murders than one—even according to his own confession

The prisoner was lodged in the city jail last night In custody of Mr Belcher he will start for Lafayette this morning He will be confined there until an officer now on the way here from St Louis shall arrive This officer is expected to reach here in a short time Hopkins will be taken back to where the crime was committed and put on his trial He is believed to be a sort of ringleader in the commission of a series of murders At last accounts the officers were hotly on the track of others who are implicated and it is not unlikely that his associates and confederates in crime will share a similar fate and yet [illegible] brought to just punishment Justice may sleep but she is never dead

[illegible] Liverpool, by mail advices from San [illegible]—Average California, 13s 4d a 13s 6d; club, [illegible].

The question now specially interesting to financiers [illegible] is what will Congress do in regard to the monetary system of the Government. While some [illegible] for that body to change its whole policy, others with equal [illegible] and judgment in such matters, deprecate [illegible] tinkering of the financial policy, which the past history of the country shows, has not always been attended with success. Plans to remedy some of the evils that have afflicted the commerce of the nation are likely to be as thick in the present session of Congress as leaves in autumn, and the question with those members who really desire reform is whether beyond retrenchment in certain directions, the repeal of the bankrupt law and the imposition of duties on certain articles, perhaps unwisely abolished, [illegible] anything can be done that will be successful. This question is one of the most important with which [illegible] have to deal, and they have much to [illegible] in the undue and generally pernicious influence of [illegible] whose business is speculation and who [illegible] the [illegible] rich on the unsettled and fluctuating condition of the market in the monetary centers of the East.

The determination on the part of several governments of Europe to demonetize silver and estimate all values by the standard of gold alone, seems to have met a reactionary movement which will result in the adoption of both gold and silver as the standards of value the world over. The silver is supposed to constitute nearly one-half of the coin of the commercial world, and as on it and gold all credits are based, the result of its demonetization, might prove seriously if not ruinously disastrous. Secretary Richardson strongly opposes any measure looking in that direction, and urges Congress to take steps to secure the recognition, by the world of commerce, of a standard for silver based on the value of gold.

Expansionists have two pet schemes which it is probable will be urged on Congress. One is an act authorizing the issuance of the $44,000,000 reserve, and the other the project of issuing convertible bonds bearing interest at 3.65 per cent. Should either of these means be adopted, the probabilities of a resumption of specie payments would be much further removed than at present, and perhaps delayed at least half a decade.

It will be remembered that Congress last winter, in determining anew and fixing at $4 86 65-100 the value of the pound sterling, decreed that on and after January 1, 1874, the par of sterling exchange should be 109 instead of 109½. In conformity with this change, a Committee of the London Stock Exchange have adopted a resolution that 4s. (British per dollar (American) shall be the basis of rate of exchange after the 31st of December. The effect of this will be to raise the quotations of our securities to real par, thus doing away with the system by which our Government bonds, for instance, when at par, were quoted at 91, apparently at a discount of 9 per cent.

From the report of the Postmaster-General, it is seen that the ordinary revenues of the postoffice department for the year ending June 30, 1873, were $22,996,741, and the expenditures $29,084,945—the increase of revenues over the preceding year being $1,081,725, and the increase of expenditures being $2,426,753. The estimated revenues for 1874 are $29,116,549, and the estimated expenditures $33,522,912, leaving a deficiency of $4,636,363 to be appropriated by Congress. This estimate does not include $1,225,000 for mail service between San Francisco and Japan and China, and between the United States and Brazil, and between San Francisco and the Sandwich Islands. The sale of postage stamps reached $16,681,189, being an increase of $840,540 over the preceding year; the sale of stamped envelopes reached $1,722,512, an increase of $59,315; the sale of newspaper wrappers reached $110,567, being a decrease of $51,585.

Miscellaneous.

The value of the raw Cotton imported this year into the United Kingdom promises to be considerably in excess of last year. In the ten months ending October 31st, the imports amounted to the value of £45,969,886, as compared with £41,566,317 in the corresponding period of 1872, and £46,110,211 in the corresponding period of 1871. In this year's total of £45,969,886, the United States figured for £27,211,071, Brazil for £2,163,275, Egypt for £5,593,367, and British India £5,950,667.

The Department of Agriculture estimates the Indian Corn crop at 858,000,000 bushels, and the Cotton crop at 3,700,000 bales, both of which are less than the crops of last year.

The Fall River News says that the Manufacturers' Board of Trade of that city have decided to commence, on the 1st of December, running the mills on three-quarters time. The News thinks that if the times continue to improve as rapidly as they have during the last two or three weeks, January will see all the mills on full time again.

The Wheat exports from San Francisco, during the present harvest year, have fallen short of those for the corresponding period in 1872, by about 900,000 centals, while the exports of Flour are about 140,000 barrels greater.

There were, at last advices by mail, at San Francisco 25 disengaged vessels averaging over 1,000 tons each, in port.

In commenting on the produce market of San Francisco, the Commercial Herald of the 12th, says: "There seems to be no scarcity of Wheat as yet, and the query is propounded freely, 'Is not the crop of 1873 turning out larger than was expected?' There is no question but that the high prices of Wheat induces every farmer to sell and market all the grain he can possibly spare, saving barely enough for seed purposes. Some there are who hold large crops for 2½c, and this rate they hope to obtain ere long. Oregon is turning out splendidly—her Wheat surplus is large, and she is marketing it with more than usual freedom. Barley and Oats do not move off readily, yet they are held strong by parties who anticipate better prices ere long. Corn and Buckwheat are called for at good prices. Hay and Potatoes are affected by the protracted rain. Bran and Middlings continue to rule high. Wool is in improved demand, and so are Hides, Tallow and Leather."

MEDICAL.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhoea, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, [illegible] Skin Diseases of years' standing, and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret diseases, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces, at their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer, until death closes the scene. Let parents guard their children, at [illegible] who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies [illegible] if they are cared for and cured before it be too late, send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his specialty [illegible] years, and who is certain to cure [illegible] without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted [illegible] who are laboring [illegible] to be careful of the many [illegible] advertise all cures, publishing false [illegible] to cure diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and avoid such injury, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of Self-Abuse! This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combated by scientific medical measures, viz.: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactory to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR. GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter, through the Post-office or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN. jy24dp
